Mr. F. W. Fish wrote council in connection with a case against his property and, on motion by Councillor Cork, the Secretary was instructed to reply and thereafter file the communication.

On motion by Councillor Welch, the Town Constable was instructed to strictly enforce the Transient Traders' Act and to take special and immediate action in connection with two parties now contravening this Act.

Too Generous For Own Good

Embracing the necessary amusement qualities which have proven exploitation value, compensating its melodrama with comedy, intelligently balancing dialogue with action, and playing down love interest, "Under Suspicion" moves speedily and, while there are occasional lapses, manages for the most part to maintain interest at a high pitch.

For a melodrama the production takes a unique story twist. An industrial leader wants to retire. For devious reasons various forces want him to continue in business. It would be more to their advantage if he were dead rather than inactive. The man, more than he wishes to retire, desires to know who wants to kill him and why. To ascertain this he makes an amateur detective of himself.

The story is taken from a Philip Wylie "Liberty" magazine contribution. It simply gives patrons a problem to solve and allows them to use their own imaginations to solve it. It may trick and confuse them but it seldom oversteps the bound of ordinary credibility and immediately erects a veil of suspense that continues until the climax.

"Under Suspicion" is showing at the Elite this week end.

Bing Crosby

Bing Crosby (Music Hall, G.C.A., 8:00 p.m., Thursdays) strikes a new note in studio attire. The loose-fitting garment is an "outboard" shirt from Hawaii. What's that? No, the shirt is not supposed to tuck in.

Fire Destroys Hope Valley Home Entirely

Mr. J. H. Miller, of the Lilly adjustment company, was in town last week to adjust the loss which was suffered by Mr. Dick Litchfield, who farms at Hope Valley, when his farm home was completely destroyed by fire recently.

From information to hand it appears that Mr. Litchfield, who lives alone, had retired for the night at about ten p.m. and was awakened some time later by smoke which filled the house. He had just time enough to obtain an overcoat and jump out through the window before the whole interior burst into flame which scorched his head before he could get away from the building.

In addition to losing his home and contents (even his wearing apparel) Mr. Litchfield had just sold his crop and had the proceeds in cash in a drawer and this also was burnt.

Fortunately he carried insurance on his building and contents although his loss still will be fairly heavy.

Annual Meeting St. Thomas' Ch. W.A.

The Women's Auxiliary of St. Thomas' (Ang.) church held their annual meeting at the home of Mrs. J. Middlemas on Tuesday last week when reports of their year's activities were presented by leaders of the various groups. All of these showed great interest and activity.

Before the close of the meeting the following officers for the coming year were elected:

Pres. Mrs. A. H. Adams; Vice Pres. Mrs. Alexander; Sec.-treas. Mrs. C. Forryan; Dorcas sec. Mrs. R. Greer; Girls' W.A. Leader, Mrs. Greer (with Mrs. Middlemas as assistant); Little Helpers' Leader, Mrs. W. Miller; Lit. Sec. Mrs. C. Horn; Jun. W. A., Mrs. Horn.

Mrs. J. Pawling, who was the first president of this organization at its inauguration was elected honorary president.

Refreshments were served at the close of the gathering.

New Young People's Society Organized

A meeting of the young people of the parish of St. Thomas' (Ang.) church was held in the vicarage on Monday evening last, when St. Thomas' Young People's Society was organized.

The following officers were elected: Pres. Mr. Bill Fraser; vice-pres. Miss C. Rowe; sec.-treas. Miss M. Odry; Mr. A. Adams and Mr. Pike were elected to the executive committee in addition to the above officers, and this committee is now planning a programme which it believes will be of interest to all young people.

A cordial invitation is extended to all young people who so desire to attend the next regular meeting which is to be held early in January.

CARD OF THANKS

Mr. T. W. Cooper and family wish to express to their many friends their heartfelt appreciation of all the kindness and sympathy shown to them in their sudden bereavement.

Mrs. T. Lane was away to Edmonton for a few days' visit with friends there last week.

Annual Election St. Andrew's L.A.

At a regular meeting of the Presbyterian Ladies' Aid held at the home of Mrs. Street on Tuesday last, the following officers were re-elected: Mrs. W. Brunner, pres.; Mrs. D. Walker, vice-pres.; Mrs. F. J. Lepper, secretary-treasurer.

It was decided to hold a "Burns banquet" on January 25th and also to continue the Christmas custom of sending boxes of fruit to the aged and shut-ins of our congregation at the holiday season.

We also had the pleasure of adding four new members' names to our roll. We have enjoyed one of our best years, both socially and financially, for which all are grateful.

May Urge Lower Gasoline Prices

This week the royal commission appointed by the Alberta government to investigate conservation and marketing problems and to recommend what should be the retail price of gasoline and fuel oil in this province, resumes its sittings in Calgary.

The sessions of this committee are regarded as of primary importance to all motor vehicle operators whose problems include those of fuel prices and consumption.

When it is noted that British Columbia is taking vigorous steps to reduce the price of gasoline, there is keen interest in the investigation being made in Alberta.

Public confidence has been expressed in the personnel of the royal commission, headed by Mr. Justice McGillivray, with Major L. R. Lipsett as his colleague on the two-member board.

Preliminary investigations have been made and it is anticipated that some of the most important evidence for the inquiry will be submitted this week.

The Alberta Motor Association, which has made strong representations as to the need of lower gasoline prices in this province probably will make a submission to the commission.

"Canadian Mosaic" Splendid Folk Lore

Definitely ranking, in its own field, with his recent book, "Steel of Empire", "Canadian Mosaic", by John Murray's Gibson, General, Publicity Agent, Canadian Pacific Railway, is a notable contribution to Canadian literature and to Canadian folk lore.

The book, which contains 424 pages with 24 magnificent colored illustrations from pastels of Canadian types and landscapes by such artists as James Crockett, W. J. Phillips, R.C.A. Kathleen Shackleton, N. de Grandmaitre, Ernst Neuman and R. H. Palenik; and 48 pages of photographs and paintings reproduced in half tone, also contains a number of maps which show the origin of Canada's various racial groups and their settlements in the Dominion.

The Canadian people will remember the broadcast series heard over the CBC national network last winter, entitled "Canadian Mosaic", in which Mr. Gibson traced the adaptation of Old World music to the growing traditions of Canada's various races in the new land. His "Canadian Mosaic", which appeared at the end of last month is the result of the exhaustive studies made by Mr. Gibson in the preparation of this broadcast series, and by his application of the information then gained he presents a living and vivid picture of the contribution made to Canadian history and culture by the 5 European races from which the Dominion has drawn much of its new blood.

The scope and purpose of the book is explained in the preface: "The Canadian race of the future is being superimposed on the original native Indian races and is being made up of over thirty European racial groups, each of which has its own history, customs and traditions. . . . While there is still time, let us make a survey of these racial groups—see where they came from, what relationship, if any, they had with each other in Europe, what culture they enjoyed and how much of that culture they have been able to bring with them."

Mr. Gibson seems to have done very successfully with his usual facility of presenting what was once a interesting facts in a manner which is not only enlightening but very entertaining.

RESULTS OF EXAMS PUBLIC HIGH SCHOOL

Below will be found a summary of the results of fall term tests held recently at the public high school. It will be noted that in the high school (grades X, XI and XII) pupils names are not listed in "order of merit". The explanation for this is as follows: All pupils in grade XII, for example, do not necessarily take the same subjects nor the same number of subjects. Student "A" may be taking only four units, while student "B" is taking a full slate of eight. The same argument applies in the case of grades X and XI. Presuming under these circumstances, to grade pupils on the basis of the average mark obtained might well give a misleading picture of the actual facts.

IMPROVING FERTILITY

OF FARMYARD MANURE

Now that the livestock is in the stables, the annual winter harvest of soil fertility in the form of stable manure becomes an exceedingly important task. Unattractive to some, yet highly regarded by all who know the land, manure is recognized as the most valuable by-product of the farm, deserving as much consideration in its conservation, as is given to the storage of crops.

Unfortunately, says G. R. Snyder, soil chemist, the real qualities of manure are not always appreciated fully, with the result that much of its value, in the form of nitrogen, phosphoric acid and potash, is permitted, and even encouraged, to join the other thousands of dollars' worth of these essential plant foods that yearly flow into ponds, drains, and creeks.

That this loss may be substantial is well illustrated by data regarding the analysis of fresh and leached manure, published by the Division of Chemistry of the Central Experimental Farms, Ottawa. The analyses show that a ton of average mixed fresh manure (cow, horse and pig) contains approximately $2.30 worth of plant food. However, if the manure has been exposed to heavy rains and the draining allowed to escape, may deteriorate to the extent of nearly fifty per cent of its original value.

Opinions vary somewhat as to the best method of handling manure. Dairy farmers usually prefer to draw it direct to the fields, spreading it immediately if conditions are suitable. This practice has much in its favor, since it makes for more sanitary conditions around the buildings, and gets the manure to work on the land with the least loss of organic matter. The loss of soluble plant foods by run-off and leaching may be appreciable, however, if the soil is porous or the area hilly or sloping. When manure is stored in the barnyard, the losses from leaching can be greatly reduced by having the yard cemented, the plan providing for a gentle slope towards the center.

Whatever the method adopted, the extent of the loss of nitrogen and potash can be greatly reduced by the use of a preservative of the type of stable superphosphate. Granular in form, this preservative is most effective when distributed in the gutters and on the walks behind the cattle, immediately after the stables are cleaned. Used thus, it absorbs the liquid manure, keeps the walks dry and prevents loss of nitrogen in the form of ammonia, by combining with it to form a non-volatile ammonium sulphate compound.

Stable phosphate not only acts as a preservative and deodorant but adds phosphoric acid, the mineral plant food substance most notably lacking in Canadian soils and supplied only meagrely by ordinary stable manure. An additional interesting factor noted by some dairy farmers, who use this preservative and practise spreading fresh manure on meadow land, is the more rapid breakdown of the excess straw.

Since manure, apart from its direct fertilizing value, exerts a favorable physical and bacterial influence on the soil and is a source of readily decomposable organic matter, it is recognized generally as a product too valuable to be sold off the farm. It would appear logical then that every practical means should be utilized to maintain and improve its original quality.

BLACKENING OF THE HEADS OF WHEAT

Dark discolorations on the heads of wheat are of rather frequent occurrence in Canada. Specimens have been received at the Dominion Laboratory of Plant Pathology, Winnipeg, from many points throughout the Dominion, states W. A. F. Hagberg. At some of these points blackening of the heads has caused alarm because of obvious damage to the crop.

The examination of samples received at Winnipeg, combined with laboratory, greenhouse and field-plot tests showed that the discolorations were of several types. Some of them were of slight practical importance but others caused considerable damage in certain localities. Samples of normally dark-glumed varieties and of false black glume were found, but these two types of blackening had little or no effect on yield. Of greater importance were discolorations caused by the attack of bacteria, fungi and fungi. These were found to include (1) bacterial black chaff caused by a bacterium, (2) glume blight, caused by a fungus, (3) head blight, caused by members of three groups of fungi, (4) blackening (or brown) in certain varieties due to imperfectly developed rust pustules, and (5) infection by non-parasitic organisms that gained entrance to the tissues after physical break-down had occurred.

In all of the above types the discolorations are attributable to the formation of a coloring substance known as melanin (meaning black). Because of the production of melanin is the result of chemical changes in the plant tissues, the composition of the tissues is important in determining whether or not blackening will occur. Hence differences in the tendency to turn dark would be expected between varieties of different constitution. Actual varieties tests, extending over the past five years, have shown that such differences exist. The varieties reaction ranges, year after year, from no discoloration in some varieties to heavy discoloration in others.

The problem of avoiding damage from the diseases that cause blackening of the heads of wheat is essentially one of breeding for resistance. As considerable damage from some of these diseases has been experienced in localized areas, the possibility of widespread damage following the introduction of a new variety must not be overlooked. Such damage is best

BUSY TIME FOR COUNCIL (?)

It could be a busy time for our Town Council just now if there is to be any move toward marking the festive season in a fitting manner by these representatives of the citizenry.

To date nothing has been heard regarding the time-honored custom of providing a Santa Claus for the kids, as in earlier years; but surely this would not prove a hard proposition to stage. This familiar figure could be arranged for the two Saturdays before Christmas and no doubt our merchants will see to it that candies and other goodies are provided for proper distribution by the Old Gentleman in Whiskers. Let us not be too conservative or phlegmatic about this matter! Surely we can all enjoy being young again once a year!

And then, again, why do not Wainwright streets receive similar treatment to other places? Practically all towns of any size or importance decorate the streets of the business section with evergreens and Christmas trees, and thus add to the feeling of festivity which pervades (or at least should do so) all humanity at the Christmas-tide.

If it is to be a "Merry Christmas" let us not conserve all the merriment to our individual homes, or even to ourselves alone, but assist in brightening the lives of all around us in every possible manner—even to the extent of putting a bit of brightness and gladness on our business streets!

SHADOW OR SUBSTANCE

What a world of thought these two words contain. Keep them in mind for an hour or two when you have spare time and think about them.

Under the above caption the Raymond Recorder says you will no doubt be amazed at the questions they are put to you when you compare this and that in life and ask yourself whether it is Shadow or Substance.

How many of the things we strive so hard for in life are really shadow, without any substance? How much effort do we put into attaining something that looks like substance and turns out to be shadow? How many golden opportunities do we pass by because we think they are shadow, only to discover later in life when the opportunity has passed us by that the things this opportunity would have brought were substance of the highest variety, could we have seen it?

these little illuminated stickers which you can put on all your Christmas letters and parcels, to remind your friends as you remind yourself, that this also bespeaks the good will of Christmas-tide.

Thousands of dollars have been collected in this manner across Canada, and have been devoted to this useful cause, by which the thing, which was once the great white plague of our civilization, has been increasingly brought under the subjection of a hopeful crusade.

Christmas Seal purchases last year provided services to 100,000 Canadians—one in every hundred of our population. And this is a little reminder to you, that you should give what you can.

Headquarters of the Christmas Seal Sales are located at Helmsman Hall, 10139 Jasper Avenue, Edmonton.

Accounts rendered monthly.

Personal

According to advice from Ottawa the Monday immediately following Christmas Day and the Monday following New Year's Day (Dec. 26th and Jan. 2nd) have been declared legal holidays in all provinces of Canada, according to statute.

Roads are still good for travel and now is the time you should get your coat hauled home. A full supply of heat coal at the Atlas yard. Joe Welch, mgr.

We received news on Sunday night of the arrival of a baby girl at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Smith (nee Violet Taylor) in Edmonton on that day.

A charivari was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. Potvin, of Green-shield, on Monday evening, when some forty neighbors and friends gathered to do honor to Mr. and Mrs. Edward Potvin. Many nice wedding gifts were presented to the happy young couple.

The seating changes at the Elit Theatre are being rapidly completed, and the new "alt-dances" are surely a great improvement. Makes us wish more than ever that the premises were the Town's Own Community Hall! Think it over.

Her many friends here will be sorry to learn of the death of a former resident in the person of Mrs. T. O'Rourke, who passed away at her home in Biggar last week.

Quite a nice crowd attended the P.T. work at the L.O.O.F. hall last week, when the lady pupils under the training of Mr. Hedley Abbott displayed great ability along the line of gymnastics and calisthenics. Both trainer and pupils were warmly praised at the close of the demonstration.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Lewis have now moved into the cottage recently vacated by Rev. G. Magnus on Third avenue east.

A nice turn-out attended the meeting of the Horse Association at the Town Hall on Saturday afternoon last, when business of this organization was discussed.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Clark and Mrs. Clark, sr., were visiting at the Harper home at Jarow over the week end.

WEDDING BELLS

WARE—LITTLE

A quiet but pretty wedding was solemnized at the Presbyterian manse, Wainwright, on Saturday afternoon, December 10th, when Margaret Maud Little, of Wainwright, became the wife of Edward Ware, of Green-shield.

Miss Florence Little, sister of the bride, and Mr. L. Ware, the groom's brother, were the signing witnesses, and the Rev. R. S. Stevens, D.D., officiated.

Miss Florence Little, sister of the bride, and Mr. L. Ware, the groom's brother, were the signing witnesses, and the Rev. R. S. Stevens, D.D., officiated.

A resolution adopted by the meeting drew attention to the fact that heavy taxation is imposed at the present time in this province.

The resolution declared that it was "unreasonable and unfair" for the government to exact the levy on drivers purely for revenue purposes.

Feeling of members was that if the proceeds from the drivers' licenses were used directly in the interests of motorists, it would be a different matter. But to collect around $120,000 a year on the $1 annual license basis for revenue purposes only, met with objection and criticism.

Attitude of the Edmonton branch on this question undoubtedly created fresh interest in any discussion of this matter at the annual convention of the Alberta Motor Association to be held at Calgary.

ABOUT PEOPLE

As tomorrow (Thursday) evening will be the last meeting for this year it is hoped that ALL members of the Rebekah degree L.O.O.F. will be in attendance.

One of our correspondents marks the fact that while preceding home one evening last week, about one mile east of town a pair of robins were noticed—just as though they had no weather worries, but only the magpies and crows to look out for!

We are asked to note that one of our country correspondents recently made a slight error when reporting that Mr. Ross Moore, of Hope Valley, had joined the benedictines. We are sorry this appeared although we can commend that state of existence to any bright young man, having enjoyed it ourselves for several years now!

Good old Sunny Alberta! When we read of the storm and devastation other parts of the country are suffering from we can almost pat ourselves on the back!

Miss Gienna Brunner entertained a number of her little friends at a birthday and thanksgiving party on Monday evening, the occasion being her twelfth birthday.

Miss Rosale Callan is to be congratulated upon her production on Friday in the United Church, when the "Explorers" Club of the United church staged a pleasing programme which delighted quite a nice attendance.

Mrs. T. Dunn, while here last week end from Edmonton, was a guest at the home of Mrs. W. Bibby.

The high winds of the week end did considerable damage to the radio aerials around town, many of which when blown down caused a number of broken windows.

We understand that the buffalo kill in the National Park will be completed this week end, following which the big heads of elk in the enclosure are to receive another "thinning out".

DID YOU KNOW THAT—

An oyster's life is 12 years? Bats sleep hanging by their claws? Male pike are frequently eaten by their mates?

Fish find their mates by color and behavior? Frogs find their mates by voice and touch?

Ducks sleep on open water and keep paddling with one foot to avoid drifting ashore?

A mole six inches long can dig a tunnel 225 feet long in a single night? Toads are worth $20.00 each, annually, as cutworm destroyers, it is estimated?

MODERN WOMEN

That women are valuable in police work is evidenced by the fact that Scotland Yard, London, wants seventy women to fill certain jobs. As a matter of fact, the British organization is looking for "perfect policewomen."

The requirements are: twenty-four to thirty-five unmarried, good natural, athletic and cheerful, and stipulations about health and education. Officials say legal graduates, male or female, are not the type of women already the Metropolitan Police Force includes twenty women police sergeants and three women police inspectors.

More than one-fourth of America's 444 women holding aviators' licenses live in California and the entire number range in age from 16 to nearly 60, according to records of the Bureau of Air Commerce. The oldest woman pilot now licensed by the bureau is Edith B. Clark of Santa Monica and she is five in the youngest bracket, all aged 17. Fourteen women have more than 1,000 hours each to their credit. Nine per cent of the women licensed to fly are said to be working toward permanent employment.

Denver has a bright girl of eighteen who conceived the idea of making a mural with cuttings of colored paper. Miss Rosemarie Davis, daughter of Forrest Davis, editor of the Denver Rocky Mountain News, won first prize in Europe for her novel decoration.

From the International Labor Office at Geneva we learn that the number of women employed in non-manual work increased considerably after the war in industrial countries, especially in our own. Statistics show that in 1910 women in clerical positions numbered 600,000 and in 1930 the figure was 2,136,000. The increase in men non-manual workers is considerably less. Women stenographers and typists show the largest gain during this period.

Messrs. Wally Prosser, Gilbert Mitchell and "Cam" Smith dropped into the Mitchell home for a brief visit on Friday afternoon before continuing their trip to Edmonton on business. They hope to resume work at the Blackfoot-Ribstone oil well right after the Christmas holiday season.

A quiet wedding was solemnized at St. Mary's Church on Tuesday afternoon, the contracting parties being Miss M. M. Bushey and Mr. J. E. Borgard, both of Heath district.

Mrs. Kate Golding must have had an inkling that the weather was about to change for she packed up and departed for the mild climate of the West Coast. She intends to reside there until the balmy spring weather coaxes her back here again.

We regret very much to learn that Peter Milne, who went to the coast hoping to regain his health, is only making very, very slow progress indeed.

SHOWMANSHIP

PLUS EDUCATION!

Along with almost every other radio writer in the country I've done my share of scoffing at the idea of stuffy professors and educational cranks who would forget that radio's job is to entertain and not to educate the people. But when learned gentlemen get together and prove that they can educate and entertain all at once then I'm for it 100 per cent. Most anyone can do with a little more education and if it can be handed out over the airways in a showmanlike manner, so much to the good. And the board of experts on the "Information Please" broadcast have proved beyond a doubt that it can and has been done. I've found it so entertaining that even though its reception from American stations has faded badly, I've tried my best to keep it tuned in. Now we will be able to hear it each Monday night, 9:30 to 10 p.m. from CJCA.

"Information Please" might be described as a "man bites dog" type of audience participation show. Instead of experts putting questions to members of the audience, the audience questions the board of experts. Although the board includes some of the country's outstanding personalities, experts in their fields, the radio audience succeeds in stumpng them about 25% of the time with the questions submitted. The manner in which the experts take their falls give listeners a Roman holiday.

Anxious to stump the experts, listeners have been submitting upwards of 6,000 questions to "Information Please" each week; and out of this number, twenty questions are programmed, with a few spares for rehearsal. Those submitting a question used on the broadcast receive five dollars. If the experts fail to answer it, an extra ten dollars is paid to the questioner. The questions are selected by a board of four readers and an editor, who make their choice on the basis of educational value, entertainment value and difficulty.

Regular members of the board of experts who have the job of answering the nation's questions are Clifton Fadiman, literary editor of the New Yorker; Franklin P. Adams, columnist of the New York Post; and John Kieran, scholarly sports authority. Along with these regulars I've heard such guest celebrities as Alice Duer Miller, Dorothy Thompson, George S. Kaufman and Moss Hart, Oscar Levant, Harpo Marx, Paul de Kruif, Stuart Chase, John Erskine, Marc Connelly, Bernard Jaffe and Dorothy Gish.

Against the experts at answering questions however, have been pitted equally celebrated questioners. Among those who have tried to laffle the experts by submitting questions have been such well-known figures as Herbert Baynard Swope, editor; Caroline Wells, detective fiction writer; Max Schuster, book publisher; and several Supreme Court Justices.

Unlike most radio programs, "Information Please" is not rehearsed. All the jokes and puns that make the show so popular with listeners are injected spontaneously, with the possible exception of Mr. Fadiman's contributions. As master of ceremonies he sees the list of questions before the broadcast, and has the opportunity to work out various gags to discomfit his colleagues.

Among the questions that have stumped the experts in "Information Please" have been the following: worthy examples. They did not know that five famous people born on the same day were the Dionne quintuplets. They were not aware that the fairy tale as we are told in the program "Once Upon a Time", CJCA, 6:00-6:15 Mondays and Fridays.

JUST BEFORE SIGN-OFF!

IT IS MY CANDID OPINION THAT—Jack Dawson's new show, "What's On My Mind", CJCA, Wednesday night, 10:00 to 10:30 p.m., is as smart a local production as you'd care to hear—merits a pat on the back from Canadians who feel that there can be just as much originality shown on this side of the boundary line as on the other! THAT the success of the show called "Information Please" proves that pessimists who claim the average listener intelligence to be under 12 years ought to take an IQ test themselves! THAT whether you are five or fifty you can still enjoy such fairy tales as are told in the program "Once Upon a Time", CJCA, 6:00-6:15 Mondays and Fridays.

Jack Frost's Wedding

by Alice Schang

Della Grey lay upon a couch beneath a window in the cosy front room of her mother's pretty cottage. Outside it was snowing; such large, fluffy, soft flakes. A cherry fire burned in the grate, the flames dancing and playing tag upon the walls and furniture.

Della had been quite ill, for you know she was a crippled girl and limped on two crutches. But she was very happy, for her mother loved her and Miss Marion, the school teacher who boarded with them, often played with her.

Della was reading a book when she felt something fall softly on her face. It was a little tiny piece of flat paper which came direct from fairyland. At first Della couldn't understand why it should fall on her. Then suddenly she remembered it was a message sent by the Pixies to remind her of the four-leaf clover the Pixies' Queen had given her last summer. It was an invitation to Jack Frost's wedding. Dear me dear me, she had forgotten all about it. What a pity that the Pixies had made that little piece of paper fall on her face!

What a lovely wedding that would be! Della had seen the summer days into winter and Jack Frost come and take all the flowers into Slumberland. They didn't need Della to give them to drink there. But Della, who was always doing kind things, found that her bird friends needed her. Every day about a hundred sparrows came to visit her and she sprinkled crumbs for them to eat every time they came. And now Jack Frost had sent for her. She must get ready at once.

Just then she heard a tap on the window pane. Yes, sure enough, there stood a little Pixie.

"Hello, Della," he called softly "let me in."

"I was hoping you would come to take me to the wedding," Della whispered happily as she opened the door for him.

"You must eat this snowflake at once," the Pixie said as he held a large round snowflake in his outstretched hand.

Della put the snowflake on her tongue where it melted at once and quick as a wink she was as small as her little Pixie friend. They ran out of the house together and he helped her into a tiny sleigh, drawn by two baby sparrows. They pulled the sleigh over the snow, quietly and smoothly and soon arrived at a lovely white palace. Two Pixies helped Della up the steps and led her in the hall of the palace staring in awe at the lovely things about her.

"How do you like the Snow Queen's palace?" asked a tiny voice beside her.

Turning, Della saw her favorite Pixie. "I never knew there was such beauty in all the world, especially in winter. Why, it's marvelous!" she answered.

"One has to look for true beauty," the Pixie smiled, "though it's everywhere. There's beauty in kindness and giving. Della, you water the flowers in summer and when Jack Frost comes in winter you feed the birds. All this is beauty to you, isn't it?"

"But I like to do it," said Della. "Of course you do. Doesn't your garden tell you? There's more color in your garden than anyone else's in the whole village. There are always birds singing on your snow-covered lawn. They come because you are kind to them and give them lots to eat."

"Oh, dear me," said the Pixie, "I'm talking to much, we'll be late for the wedding if I do not hurry. Here comes Mrs. Icicle. She will dress you in a fine gown right away. I'll come back for you soon. Good-bye, Della."

"Come in, my dear, you must hurry and dress for the wedding," said Mrs. Icicle.

"Please tell me where all the other Pixies are," Della begged.

"Well," said Mrs. Icicle, "there's to be such a crowd and there is so much to do. Some are polishing the ballroom floor, some are making the wedding cake, some are making the wedding ice cream and some are making Master Jack's wedding suit. And dear me! that is hard to make. You see, it's made of . . .

"Don't tell me," Mrs. Icicle. I want it to be a surprise for me at the wedding," Della broke in.

"All right, I won't tell, my dear. Now let me see what would you like to wear for the wedding, Della?"

"I'd like a pale blue satin, pleated like ice. May I have one like that, Mrs. Icicle?"

"Why, of course, Della. I have yards and yards of ice satin."

Mrs. Icicle pinned, fitted and sewed for a few minutes, then she exclaimed as she led Della to a mirror, "Isn't that a beautiful dress?"

"It's lovely. Oh, thank you, Mrs. Icicle." And Della put her arms around her friend's neck. "Thank you," she whispered again.

"I'll send for your Pixie," said Mrs. Icicle. "Here's your hat. I made it by sewing some snowflakes together. Try it on right away."

Just then the Pixie opened the door. Della limped towards him and said, "I'm ready and so excited."

"Our sleigh is waiting, Della. My, that's a pretty dress. You look lovely. There's the bird's choir just behind us. They are to draw the bride's coach so we are sure to get there first if we hurry and then we are sure to have seats right up in front of the fairy church."

He helped Della down the steps and they soon reached the fairy church where two big robins with sparkling red vests showed them to their seats.

Then the church was filled with beautiful music and all the bells began to ring as the wedding procession moved up the aisle. Two of Mrs. Icicle's little girls came first. Both were dressed in pale satin dresses just like Della's. Then came the bride, hounding young Mr. Frost's arm. What a lovely picture she made. Her dress was of flaked frost material which glistened like diamonds as she walked and her veil was all-over frost lace.

The design on the lace was just as Della had often seen on her window panes on cold mornings.

Jack Frost's wedding suit was made of brilliant. Wasn't that a surprise? No wonder Mrs. Icicle said it was hard to make and that it took a lot of Pixies to help him dress.

What a proud, smiling couple they were, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Frost, as the bride shone through the church windows, making their clothes shine like a million stars on a moonlight night.

Della whispered to her Pixie, "Their faces are as bright as their clothes. How truly lovely they are!" She watched eagerly and saw them all the time they were getting married. Soon a hush fell in the church as Mr. and Mrs. Robin sang, "Happy Wedding Day" and the bride and groom walked slowly down the aisle to leave the fairy church.

Della opened her eyes. "Miss Marion, isn't it grand?" she asked, looking out of the window.

"Yes, Della. Snow makes such pretty pictures," she answered.

Della sighed deeply for she knew that Miss Marion didn't understand. As she sat up, she remembered that she had forgotten to thank her Pixie escort and she had not gone on to Jack Frost's reception. But she was sure he would understand. She was very tired and soon was sound asleep.

INTENSIVE RECRUITING FOR (CIVILIAN DEFENCE)

London, Eng. — Sir John Anderson, lord privy seal, Thursday announced a nation-wide voluntary recruiting drive for civilian defence and plans for a quick national register in war time.

The minister outlined his plans to the commons. He said 20,000,000 handbooks would be sent to all householders in the country setting out the many forms of national service open to volunteers.

Men and women who join up, either in active or passive defence forces, will enter intensive training and arrangements will be made to keep the census machinery, which ordinarily would not be used until 1941, on a full-time working basis, so it could be used quickly for a compulsory register on the outbreak of war.

Holiday Fruit Cake (White) Can be baked three or four weeks ahead 1/2 cup shortening 1 cup sugar

Wherever Christianity is the prevailing religion, Christmas day is the finest of all holidays, especially for the children.

Christmas dinner is a gala occasion. It is the high spot of the holiday get-together. Housewives start planning for it days in advance.

Take cranberry sauce, for instance—no Christmas dinner has ever been complete without it. Our grandmothers prepared it at least a week ahead. In those days cranberry sauce, thick with berries, was served in a side dish. Today it may be strained, put into a mold and chilled. The sweetest and most attractive method is to make it without any cooking, and the addition of orange gives it a new interest. At serving time it comes to the table side by side with the roast, in cubes which adorn the edge of the dinner plate. One of the advantages of this method is that it can be prepared at practically the last minute because quick-setting gelatin requires only an hour to become firm.

Below are the modern versions of cranberry sauce and holiday fruit cake.

Cranberry Orange Relish 1 package quick setting gelatin (orange flavor) 1 cup boiling water 1/2 cup orange 2 tablespoons sugar 1 cup cold water 1/2 cup uncooked cranberries

Dissolve quick setting gelatin in boiling water; add sugar and cold water. Put cranberries and unpeeled orange through food chopper; add to gelatin mixture and chill until it begins to thicken. Stir up and pour into mold. Chill until firm. Serves 15.

Cream shortening; add sugar gradually, mixing in well. Add unpeeled orange whites one at a time, beating well between each addition. Sift baking powder and salt with flour; add alternately with water to first mixture. Bake in loaf or tube pan lined with heavy cellophane. Bake in slow oven at 350° F., 100° F. about 2 1/2 hours. SAUSAGE STUFFING

(For a 12-pound turkey)

1 pound sausage meat 2 cups soft bread crumbs 3 tablespoons onion (grated) 3 tablespoons parsley (minced) 1 teaspoon salt 1/2 teaspoon pepper

1/4 cups celery (cooked or dried) Brown the sausage meat in a skillet. Add to the remaining ingredients, with the fat. Fill the body of the turkey with the stuffing.

There's the bird's choir just behind us. They are to draw the bride's coach so we are sure to get there first if we hurry and then we are sure to have seats right up in front of the fairy church."

He helped Della down the steps and they soon reached the fairy church where two big robins with sparkling red vests showed them to their seats.

Then the church was filled with beautiful music and all the bells began to ring as the wedding procession moved up the aisle. Two of Mrs. Icicle's little girls came first. Both were dressed in pale satin dresses just like Della's. Then came the bride, hounding young Mr. Frost's arm. What a lovely picture she made. Her dress was of flaked frost material which glistened like diamonds as she walked and her veil was all-over frost lace.

The design on the lace was just as Della had often seen on her window panes on cold mornings.

Jack Frost's wedding suit was made of brilliant. Wasn't that a surprise? No wonder Mrs. Icicle said it was hard to make and that it took a lot of Pixies to help him dress.

What a proud, smiling couple they were, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Frost, as the bride shone through the church windows, making their clothes shine like a million stars on a moonlight night.

Della whispered to her Pixie, "Their faces are as bright as their clothes. How truly lovely they are!" She watched eagerly and saw them all the time they were getting married. Soon a hush fell in the church as Mr. and Mrs. Robin sang, "Happy Wedding Day" and the bride and groom walked slowly down the aisle to leave the fairy church.

Della opened her eyes. "Miss Marion, isn't it grand?" she asked, looking out of the window.

"Yes, Della. Snow makes such pretty pictures," she answered.

Della sighed deeply for she knew that Miss Marion didn't understand. As she sat up, she remembered that she had forgotten to thank her Pixie escort and she had not gone on to Jack Frost's reception. But she was sure he would understand. She was very tired and soon was sound asleep.

crusally, or about 34 cup cakes.

Magie Lemon Meringue Frosting 1-1/2 cups (1 can) sweetened condensed milk 2 tablespoons lemon juice 1 egg white, stiffly beaten Blend together sweetened condensed milk and lemon juice and stir until mixture thickens. Fold in stiffly beaten egg white. Spread on baked cake. Bake in a moderate oven (350° F.) 10 minutes or until delicate brown or place very hot in broiler under a slow flame. Broil until surface becomes delicate brown. Cool. Makes enough frosting to cover top and sides of loaf cake generously or about 24 cup cakes.

Canadian Sardines in Potato Baskets 1 can Canadian sardines 1/2 teaspoon mustard 2 medium-sized potatoes 1 can condensed soup (mushroom or tomato soup)

Parboil the potatoes, cut in half and hollow out to form cups. Mash the sardines, combine with the inside of the potato cups, season and add mustard. Fill the potato cups. Keep in a cool place until ready to serve.

Heat the soup as it comes from the can, stirring to blend well and pour into a deep fireproof platter or oblong dish. Place the potatoes on top gently, so the contents of the cups do not spill and place in a warm oven for a few minutes until potatoes are cooked through. Serve garnished with triangles of buttered toast and slivers of sweet gherkins.

SOME TOASTED FROSTINGS Whether it's served for dinner or for informal refreshments, a cake with toasted frosting is a sure success. And it's quick and easy to prepare, by magic failure-proof recipes calling for sweetened condensed milk. Just bake the cake—or buy cake layers at the grocer's—spread on the frosting, slip the frosted cake into the oven or broiler. In a few moments the cake, magically browned and delicious, is ready to serve—and it's sure to bring "ohs" and "ahs" of delight from everyone who eats it.

Baked Fudge Frosting 2 squares unsweetened chocolate 1-1/2 cups (1 can) sweetened condensed milk 1 tablespoon water 1 cup shredded coconut

Sprinkle top with remaining coconut. Place in a hot oven (450° F.) 10 minutes or until coconut browns. Makes enough frosting to cover top and sides of loaf cake generously, or about 34 cup cakes.

Our Yield Per Acre

WELL, COUNTRY NEWSPAPERS DO NOT EXACTLY CALCULATE THEIR YIELD BY THE ACRE, BUT LIKE FARMERS, THEY DO HAVE GOOD AND POOR YIELDS. EACH SUBSCRIBER TO THE NEWSPAPER BUSINESS OFFICE IS LIKE AN ACRE TO A FARMER. SOMETIMES THEY YIELD GOOD, OTHER TIMES NOT SO GOOD. DRY WEATHER, POOR PRICES, HAIL AND FROST HAVE THEIR EFFECT ON OUR YIELD TOO AND OFTEN WE WAIT YEARS BEFORE OUR RETURNS COME IN.

IN A SHORT TIME WE WILL BE SENDING OUT NOTICES TO ALL SUBSCRIBERS IN ARREARS AND WE HOPE FOR A GOOD RESPONSE. WE DO NOT EXPECT TO GET ALL THE ARREARS BUT WE DO HOPE TO GET A GOOD YIELD. ALL WE ASK IS THAT SUBSCRIBERS TREAT US AS GENEROUSLY AS NATURE TREATS THEM.

Beauty for YOU
The Secrets of Good Looks by Barbara Lynn.

THE FACE—AND ITS CARE

Some women think it is a waste of time, or just sheer vanity, to devote too much time to their faces. I have even heard a woman say: "If we had been intended to be beautiful, we'd have been made so!"

How mistaken they are! Surely there is enough ugliness around us without adding to it? And a beautiful woman is one of the fairest jewels on earth.

No woman would hesitate to use modern inventions to simplify and ease the household drudgery, so why not call on the modern aids to beauty to enhance the loveliness of your face?

Cosmetics will never take the place of regular washing. They are not to hide blemishes that can be eradicated by care, but should be used to enhance the natural beauty that is already there, and to conserve it.

You'll be surprised when I tell you that I have found an astonishingly large number of women who do not know how to wash their faces! There are a lot of fallacious ideas on the subject.

"The water you use may seem perfectly all right, and yet it may be conducting to skin imperfections. Hard water is too harsh. If the only water available is hard, a good idea would be to soften it by using a bran mixture. There is nothing difficult about it, and bran is excellent. Boil a pound of bran in a gallon of water and strain it. Add enough of this mixture to your washing water to make it look milky.

Extremely hot water should never be used on the face. See that the water is just tepid. Remember that the facial muscles are very sensitive and hot water tends to relax them and gives a flabby appearance to the face.

Every face needs a good morning and evening routine. Don't be haphazard about it. Regular care becomes a habit and will pay enormous dividends in face loveliness.

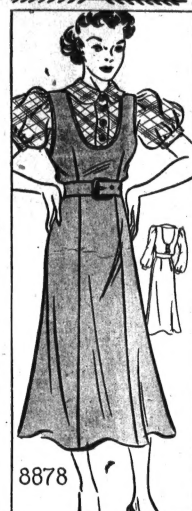

I have prepared a special leaflet on "The Face—and Its Care", which deals exhaustively with the subject, giving treatments and much helpful advice on blemishes and general care. I shall be glad to send you a copy and any of the following special leaflets if you will send a 3c stamp for each one required: How to Slim; Underweight; Superfluous Hair; Reducing in Spots—Thighs, Arms, Hips, Legs, etc.; Hand Beauty; Bust Development; Care of the Feet; Your Hair; Eye Beauty.

Don't hesitate to ask my help in your personal beauty worries. I'll be delighted to help you and every letter is confidential. When writing, please mention name of this paper, and address all letters to: Barbara Lynn,

MAKING CANADA A Better Place in Which to Live

A Series of Letters from Distinguished Canadians on Vital Problems Affecting the Future Welfare of Canada.

Specialty Written for Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association

LETTER No. 30

Dear Editor,

In my father's home we were brought up to be readers of the weekly press. We had in our home in Oxford County, the Embro Courier, the Woodstock Sentinel Review, the Stratford Beacon, all well conducted and influential newspapers. All my life I have been a reader of weekly papers published in the smaller cities and towns and I know how great is their influence in the lives of the people. Their special sphere of information constantly includes the home, the school, the church and municipal government. A large and most important fact of life. It is important for the welfare of the people that the weekly press should continue prosperous and influential.

There is one other matter I suppose one should mention—that is the question of politics. The old idea of purely party organs is passing—yet every editor with a living soul is bound to be an influence on public questions. He cannot even give correct information without creating opinion. I sincerely believe the less well-known papers with local circulation are still largely the power behind the throne. Creating that public opinion—which the city papers and public men generally seek to reflect and follow. It is therefore most important that the editors of these influential weekly journals should have freedom and courage. There need be nothing partisan in them. I am not an admirer of neutrals.

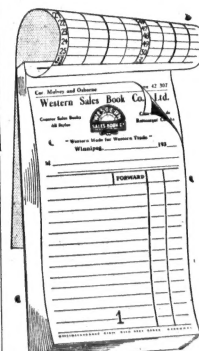

Sincerely yours,
HUGH M'NROE,

Moderator of General Assembly, the Presbyterian Church in Canada.

NEWS & VIEWS OF TOWN AND DISTRICT

Mr. Ed Turner has been making improvements to his property on Fifth Avenue east, the erection of a storm porch at the front as well as an addition to the rear of the house.

Messrs. C. Abernethy, W. McBeth, H. Renville are working for the B.A. Oil Co., building warehouses and erecting storage tanks at several points on the north railway line.

Mayor and Mrs. Middlemas were in the city for a day or two last week on business.

As Winter arrives, your children's needs again require your attention. They need the winter enjoyment of skating, which promotes health. They will therefore need their skates sharpened or repaired and this is best done at the O.K. Shoe Repair, where a good job is guaranteed.

Mr. H. C. Link was in attendance at the annual hotelmen's convention in Edmonton last week, when matters pertaining to their business made a full agenda.

Mr. J. H. Ross, of Calgary, supervisor of the Provincial Youth Training movement, was in town last week and attended the gymnastic display in the L.O.O.F. Hall, of which he spoke very highly and complimented trainer Hedley Abbott.

One of the young lads of the Abernethy family had the misfortune to slip on the ice near his home last week with the result that he is now in hospital with a broken hip.

No one should be without fire insurance. After years of hard work and sacrifice to accumulate property the fire enemy can destroy it all in a few minutes, and the loss should be guarded against. If your property is properly valued and insured you will collect the full amount when a catastrophe occurs. See Joe Welch or phone 57.

Work is now complete on the installation of a complete new modern electric-lighting plant on the farm of Messrs. Geo. Smith and Son, south of Greenshields. In addition to providing light for all the buildings, the new plant provides power for quite a bunch of machinery.

Mr. K. Mackenzie, who has been here for the past two or three months on special collection work for the hospital board, has completed his duties and left for the city on Tuesday.

A couple of men were at work this week in preparation for skating at the open-air rink. The weather has not assisted at all in making ice yet, and the curlers are getting anxious to make a start, too.

Shavings have become so popular for keeping out the cold from buildings that the supply has become exhausted, and the factories have orders which cannot be filled for months. The Atlas yard carries other forms of insulating material, however, and it will pay you to attend to this money-saving proposition without delay. Joe Welch.

We are sorry to learn that Mrs. J. Chynoweth is on the sick list these days.

HEATH

Heath school pupils enjoyed a few days holiday owing to the illness of the teacher.

Ruthie Bartlett spent the week end in Edmonton, visiting friends and seeing Santa Claus.

Mrs. Sportswitz was an overnight visitor to Edmonton.

Heath school are in possession of a new piano in preparation for their Christmas concert.

COMING EVENTS

The executive of the Library association will hold a card party, supper and dance in the Masonic Hall on Wednesday, December 28th, commencing at 8 p.m. Admission will be 35c and all are invited to arrange to attend.

Stranger things have happened. Perhaps the very intensity of our desire may bring a realization of our hopes.

We are informed that Mrs. W. Bibby, Jr., is a patient in a hospital in the city, and we wish her better health.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Keenan motored to the city last week on business.

His many friends will be sorry to learn that Mr. Harry Jackson is a patient at the hospital and wish him better.

The weather of the past week has been something "to write home about"! The temperature, while not extreme at any time, has varied from zero to 36 degrees above. And the list of bad colds being suffered is no doubt lengthened by this unseasonable weather.

The Legion Notice Board

In regard to the Legion broadcast, we wish to remind those boys and girls interested that the material presented last Friday night will be repeated next Friday night from Edmonton.

We have to report that last Tuesday night a round dozen of us called on the Wainwright Town Council during their regular meeting with the object of seeing if some action could be taken whereby the Royal Train bearing their Majesties the King and Queen could make a short stop at Wainwright when crossing the Dominion next May or June.

We were well received and listened to and the result is that a letter has been sent to the Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, Prime Minister of Canada, asking for his good offices in support of this idea.

What a splendid thing it would be for our town and district if this idea should bear fruit. What a letter-day it would be for all of us and especially for the boys and girls of our schools and for the younger generation generally.

To the Legion, of course, it would also be a chance to see the Grand Patron of the British Empire Service League, of which the Canadian Legion is a component part, and to welcome a comrade in arms of the Great War.

Stranger things have happened. Perhaps the very intensity of our desire may bring a realization of our hopes.

Jack Frost Played Us False

Extended mild weather forces us to drastically reduce the prices on our Fur Coats. Our policy of "no carry overs from one season to the next" compels us to take this step.

EDMONTON

Among the city visitors last week were Misses Helen Clifton and Edith Hart, who spent a day or so there at the week end.

The C.N. Telegraphs are again offering their usual Christmas telegraphic messages to friends in Canada at greatly reduced rates.

ALL members of the local lodge of Odd Fellows are asked to make a point of being in attendance on Monday next when degrees are to be conferred and the year's business closed up.

Engineer F. Drouin and Fireman Ed. Johnston of the C.N.R. have been transferred from Edmonton to Wainwright, and now have their run from this point.

CONTINUATION OF TOWN COUNCIL

redemption is not yet accomplished, from what is visible in the records, we believe this will be accomplished by the very near future. The owners of these parcels are anxious to have the registration of these parcels remain as at present and we hesitate to recommend any action at variance with their wishes in view of their efforts and desire to accomplish redemption.

There are, however, five parcels which were offered for sale in years previous to 1937, in connection with which very little apparent effort is being made to accomplish redemption and there are a considerable number of parcels offered for sale in 1937, which occupy the same position. There is no desire on the part of this committee to deprive property owners of their property but we have no other alternative in cases where such owners fail to show desire or effort to obtain their property.

"We therefore recommend that the Secretary-Treasurer be instructed to make application for title in the name of the Town of Wainwright in the case of the following parcels of land, which are segregated as to the years in which they were offered for sale by public auction."

(Here follows a long list of lots which are affected.—Ed.)

On motion by Councillor Welch, the report of the committee on assessment and property was received and accepted and the Secretary-Treasurer was instructed to make application for title, in the name of the Town of Wainwright, for all parcels set forth in the report.

The financial statement for the month of November was submitted to council by the Secretary-Treasurer and, on motion by Councillor Cork, this statement was received and accepted and incorporated in the proceedings of the meeting.

On motion by Councillor Link, a sum of $25.00 will be granted to the Wainwright Library but will not be paid in the present year.

The Secretary-Treasurer submitted to council the voters' list for the year 1939 as prepared by him before the 15th day of November, 1938, and reported to council that no appeals had been received by him against the voters' list and so prepared and, on motion by Councillor Welch, the voters' list as thus prepared by the Secretary-Treasurer and now presented to council was adopted as the revised voters' list of the Town of Wainwright for the year A.D. 1939.

On motion by Councillor Link it was unanimously resolved that, provided financial arrangements satisfactory to the Town of Wainwright can be made, council agrees to pay the balance on the snow plow, amounting to $150.00, and take possession of this plow, rather than have the plow repossessed for the small amount outstanding against the original owners.

On motion, council was regularly adjourned.
